Google Maps:

Latitude 53° 2'3.62"N

Longitude 0°39'34.46"W

The main PGRO trials site will be open for tours.

PGRO staff will be on hand to provide explanations of the multitude of applied research trials, the latest thoughts and advise on crop agronomy and guide you round the sites on an informal basis.

Alternatively pick up a site map and make you own way round asking questions when you feel the need.

All are welcome. The event is free of charge and although there is no need to book it would be very helpful to know you intend to come.

If you intend to attend the event, please send a simple reply with your name indicating how many of you are likely to be present.
